Description

Jensen Architects is an award-winning, 24-person, design-oriented architecture firm located in downtown San Francisco. Our studio is currently engaged in a variety of creative design work including cultural, educational, residential, workplace, and mixed-use projects of various scales. We're interested in a critical approach to design, engaging contemporary culture, and exploring innovative construction techniques in search of design solutions that are elegant, effective, and environmentally sensitive.

We are seeking a talented workplace designer located in Los Angeles to join our thriving studio as a remote employee. This position requires applicants to be currently located in greater Los Angeles area and authorized to work in the United States.

Qualifications

The available position is full-time with salary and benefits commensurate with relevant experience and qualifications. We're looking for an energetic and motivated designer to join our thoughtful, collaborative studio; successful candidates will possess the following:

- Bachelor's or Master's degree in architecture
- 2-8 years of experience working on high-end workplace projects
- Superior design aptitude and passion for design excellence
- Strong drafting, 3D modeling, and presentation skills
- Deep professional working knowledge of Revit
- Excellent communication and self-management skills
- Positive attitude and comfort working in a collaborative manner
- Currently located in LA and authorized to work in the US

How to Apply

Interested candidates are to submit a current resume and complete portfolio demonstrating both design work and working drawings in a single PDF file (please do not send separate cover letter, resume, and portfolio files), 10 MB max file size; online portfolios will not be reviewed. Please send via email to deano@jensen-architects.com with "Workplace Designer" in the subject heading.
